

The Department of Science, Information Technology and Innovation is holding a regional roadshow to promote digital skills for all Queenslanders and to provide Queensland communities with the opportunity to interact with digital technologies.

We will be in Bundaberg at the Bundaberg Civic Centre on Tuesday, 20th June 2017 and would like to invite local students and their teachers to join us for hands-on workshops and practical demonstrations of digital technologies, such as drones, coding, robotics, 3D printing, virtual reality, etc.

We'll also be hosting a small technology expo which will be open to the whole community, plus a closed discussion on digital literacy for invited participants.

More information will follow soon, which will include details about the activities to be offered and how to register. In the meantime, please keep this date in mind as this is an exciting opportunity for your students to understand the benefits and impacts that digital technologies can have in their lives in a fun, interactive way.

Kind Regards,

Jenny Hickey

Principal Project Officer

Digital Economy and Productivity

Department of Science, Information Technology and Innovation

---

P (07) 3215 3751

L14 140 Creek Street, Brisbane QLD 4000

GPO Box 5078, Brisbane 4001

Customers first | Ideas into action | Unleash potential | Be courageous | Empower people